

THE WEEKLY AWESOME

September 18, 2008

Volume 4, Issue 4

The 4E Band

Esteban Hufstedler

The tentatively named Log Cabin Republicans had their first jam session on Monday. The band consists of ridiculously awesome front man, lead singer, and local badass Esteban Hufstedler; bass and occasional horn-playing musical madman David Backus; and guitar-playing emo-glasses Sebastian Denault.

A wide selection of music was played, to which Denault replied, "I feel like I'm wasting my time." He was a fan of a song that described horrific, brutal rape and murder. A consensus to enjoy Styx was reached, however. After Hufstedler ran out of music, Denault played several songs. Hufstedler left soon after, mumbling something about camping.

Although the outlook was bleak, currently none of the members seem willing to give up on the band. If this doesn't tear the hall into rival factions, it could tear the hole a new one. With excellent Rock.

Rocky Horror Picture Show

David Harvison

This year's Rocky Horror trip was enjoyed by all who attended and caused great confusion amongst those who were not aware of the awesomeness of our 13 Abraham Lincoln costumes.

If you didn't attend you really missed out on the fun!

Media Review - David Bromberg

Samantha Palazzolo

Looking for something different in your music? Well, David Bromberg would fit in that category. Unlike most modern music, i.e. pop, rock, rap, metal, techno, etc, Bromberg sings folk music. Folk music, or at least Bromberg's folk music, centers mostly on stories about people or places with a touch of humor. Some of his more interesting songs include: "Send Me to the 'lectric Chair", about a man who wants to be put to death after killing his 'sweet patootie', a cover of "Mr. Bonjangles", about a guy who dances at bars to get cash for alcohol, and "The New Lee Highway Blues", about a car trip that doesn't seem very fun but set to a very uplifting tune. His music does include it's fair share of banjos and fiddles, which sounds unique compared to most popular music. I would highly recommend David Bromberg for uplifting, hilarious stories sent to fun folk tunes.

Our First Special Cocoa of the Year.

FTL Cocoa

Simone Agha

This Wednesday, Fourth East was graced with the presence of Professor Tom Leighton (FTL) during Special Cocoa. Our guest munched on freshly baked (courtesy of Nate, Liz!, and Walker) almond-chocolate-chip cookies while answering our questions about Akamai. After conversation in the Cocoa Lounge ranging from 6.042 to McCain to control room displays, FTL was taken on a tour along the 4E hall. Toward the end of his visit, FTL was asked to become a hall fellow to which he has graciously responded with a promising "I'll consider it."

Alumni Corner

Walker Chan

