

Little Britain FAC

Staff

This Friday is our hall's FAC. It should be taking place at 5pm though time changes are frequent with 4e FACs. We will be serving finger sandwiches, scones, tea and other delicacies. Simone is heading the FAC so direct all questions to her. If you have some free time be sure to help out in the kitchen or setting up before the actual event!

Rugby Results

MIT scored 66 to 5 in their Saturday game against Boston College B-sides. The match was arranged as a friendly competition between the Division 2 BC team and MIT's own Division 4 team.

Mexican Feed

Emo-Glasses

On Saturday, the hall held it's annual Mexican feed, a feast to celebrate our Mexican heritage and to generally pig out. Sam, David, Esteban and Sebastian prepared three types of enchiladas, tostadas, rice, beans, rice pudding and flan. The Goodale lounge was packed as Mexicans and gringos alike partook of the bounty, aided in their festivities by the atmosphere of mariachi music. The feed was deemed a success, and was followed by an epic siesta.

4E Scone Poll

Fangfei

Last week, I decided to put up a scone poll on the whiteboard outside of my room, asking for scone ideas. The members of Slugfest (and friends) gladly contributed the following:

- not fish
- cherry
- senocs
- course 6 sucks
- senile senators
- not spicy
- 6.170
- chocolate chips, please
- cream and jam
- 2.005
- blue ball
- spinach and cheese
- raspberry and chocolate
- custard
- honey
- DONLAN
- cheeeese!
- chocolate
- craisen
- orange cranberry
- crapple
- NOM-NOM
- blueberry!!
- lemon poppyseed
- opium
- escrones

If you would like to suggest another scone request, please do not hesitate to inform through fangfei@mit.edu or the whiteboard outside of B412.

Now, you may be wondering, what am I planning to do with this list of scones? Obviously, I intend to bake all (or rather, a majority) of them at some point or another. The question, however, is when. Perhaps this will manifest itself in a Scone Feed next semester. Or perhaps a SconeComm will materialize and random acts of sconeness will occur.

Whatever the matter, scones can be found in the following Official Upcoming Events:

- Little Britain FAC (this Friday, 10/17) Be sure to help out!
- Thanksgiving Feed (11/22)
